Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. has presented an innovation in antiquities and numismatics for some time now. The system is simple. When you want an antiquity or coin in the sale, just bid the estimated price by phone or mail. We will send you the antiquity or coin immediately. No waiting for the closing of the sale. Any and all antiquities or coins not sold before the closing date will be sent to the highest bidder on June 25, 1996.

EXAMPLE—You bid estimate on an item valued at $100.00 and if your bid is the 1st to reach us, you will receive the item immediately. If on the other hand, you bid $75.00 on the same item and are still the high bidder at the end of the sale, the item will be mailed to you on the closing date, June 25, 1996.

If you are ever in the area, stop in to see us! Of course, it's best to call first. Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. reserves the right to refuse any ridiculous bids.

In our last catalogues we have offered some extremely rare tetradrachms of Lyceius of Paeonia at $2,250. More coins from that hoard have come onto the market, mostly of the Zeus head type. People who paid us the higher price have already been offered coins at the lowest possible price for obvious reasons. We now offer six coins of this rare king at reduced prices and one extremely rare portrait of Patraus which is not part of this hoard.

38. PAEONIA, LYCCEIUS; 359-340 BC, Tetradrachm, #63, Apollo. As mentioned above this type is extremely rare being represented in this hoard at a rate of 50:1 as to the Zeus heads. Mint State 1250
39. PAEONIA, LYCCEIUS; 359-340 BC, Tetradrachm, #70. Zeus. This reverse die is unrecorded though the obverse die is the same as for the rest of the Zeus heads. Mint State 1100
40. PAEONIA, LYCCEIUS; 359-340 BC, Tetradrachm. Zeus/Hercules. Mint State 1100

141-143 are offered at fixed prices, only buy bids will be accepted for these coins.

41. PAEONIA, LYCCEIUS; 356-335 BC, Tetradrachm; SNG ANS 1019. Zeus/Hercules fighting Nemean lion. Obverse weakly struck. The cut in the cheek is actually in the die. Exquisite reverse showing full lion. Mint State 695
42. PAEONIA, LYCCEIUS; 356-335 BC, Tetradrachm; SNG ANS 1019. Zeus/Hercules fighting Nemean lion. Mint State 695

Extremely rare. Test cut on obverse. Octopus, on reverse in shallow incuse. This and one other recorded example now in a museum is the earliest coin recorded for Eretria, even earlier than the famous spread flan example which was thought to be the first issue of the city until 1981 when the other example of this coin was presented. The famous spread flan piece brought $70,000 at auction some years ago. Fine/VF 14500

ATTICA, ATHENS

154. 510-480 BC, Tetradrachm, 16.26g; Seltman Group E. Pre-Marathon tetradrachm. Nice head with crest, excellent better than average owl. It is very hard to get the face and owl centered on these coins at all. Good VF 2850

The CALLIOPE Sale

Single Coin Auction

Bidding closes June 25, 1996 6 pm C.S.T.

478. THE MUSE CALLIOPE ON AN EXTRAORDINARY ANTONINIANUS OF PROBUS 276-282 AD

The nine Muses, the goddesses presiding over the different types of poetry and over the arts and sciences, appeared on Roman coins on only two occasions.

First, in order to illustrate and advertise his own name, the senator Q. Pomponius Musa placed all nine of the muses, plus their leader Hercules, on the Republican denarii that he struck as moneyer c. 66 BC (Crawford 410). On these coins the individual Muses are distinguished by their posture and attributes and by the symbols that appear behind the head of Apollo on the obverse but they are not named; Pomponius' cognomen MVSA, the Latin word for Muse, appears as a general designation alongside all of them. It is curious that whereas Pomponius' denarii for eight of the muses are scarce only, being worth today about $400 each in very fine condition, his denarius for the remaining Muse Erato is one of the most sought after rarities of the Republican series; an EF specimen in a 1979 Sotheby sale, for example, brought £5800.

Secondly, the muse of epic poetry alone, Calliope, appeared with the legend CALLIOPE AVG on an extremely rare antoninianus struck by the emperor Probus (276-282 AD) at the mint of Siscia. A coin of these types was first described in 1791 by Tanini in his supplement to Banduri's corpus of late Roman and Byzantine coins (1718). Both Eckhel (1797) and Cohen (first edition 1865, second edition 1886) knew the type only from Tanini; Eckhel called it "singular in the extreme" and Cohen valued it at 100 francs, an immense price for an antoninianus of Probus, the common types of which were then worth under one franc apiece. Percy Webb too knew Tanini's description only and no actual specimen of this coin, so was unable to attribute it to a specific mint and omitted it from RIC V, 2 (1933). Probus' CALLIOPE AVG antoninianus eluded even the Viennese collector Missong, who specialized in Probus and whose extraordinary collection of the coins of that emperor was acquired after his death by the national coin cabinet in Vienna. However, according to A. Alföldi's corpus of coins struck by Probus at Siscia which was published in 1939, two famous private collectors of the beginning of this century, Francesco Gnecchi and George Weifert, whose collections are now at the Museo Nazionale in Rome and the University of Belgrade respectively, were each able to acquire a specimen of Probus' CALLIOPE AVG antoninianus, which Alföldi attributed to the mint of Siscia. The specimen that we offer here is thus apparently only the third to come to light since 1791, and the only one of the three that does not reside permanently in a museum collection. This coin is a great deal rarer than Pomponius' denarius of Erato, and it is the only Roman coin to actually name one of the nine Muses.

What was the reason for this brief and isolated appearance of the muse of epic poetry in an age of barbarian invasions and civil war that might seem singularly unsuited for the cultivation of literature? Eckhel viewed the type as a general tribute to Probus' excellence: Calliope may have been placed on the coins, he said, in order that she might seem to be sounding the praises due to Probus' virtue. But it seems preferable to suspect a more specific cause: perhaps an author of the time had actually published an epic poem celebrating Probus' accomplishments, or could it be that Probus himself composed epic poetry and perhaps even sang his own compositions while accompanying himself on the lyre, like his infamous predecessor Nero more than two hundred years earlier? Literary and especially histrionic ambitions would not have made Probus popular with the army and the Roman ruling class, so it would be no surprise that the CALLIOPE AVG type did not meet with the emperor's approval and was immediately discontinued. In any case, the CALLIOPE AVG type was clearly experimental since it lacks the value and officina marks that appear on almost all other Siscian antoniniani of Probus.

For help in tracking down the literature relating to this coin we are grateful to Dr. William E. Metcalf of the American Numismatic Society, Dr. Andrew Burnett of the British Museum, Marcus Weder of Pratteln, Switzerland and Mrs. Maria E. Clay.

Obv-IMP PROBVS PF AVG Bust radiate left, in consular robes and holding eagle-tipped scepter. Rx-CALLIOPE AVG Calliope standing right, naked to waist, playing lyre, left foot on uncertain object. Bust variety of C 83 (Tanini, 100 Fr), Alföldi, "Siscia", NK 36-37 (1937-38), Table VI and p. 65, no. 14 (Gnecchi and Weifert collections). Near Mint State.

Because of the Extraordinary importance of this coin within the entire Roman series, this is the only coin we've had in our sales that we do not want to offer at a set price.

558. DIVUS AUGUSTUS; died 14 AD, Dupondius, struck by Caligula, 37-41 AD, Rome, 15.92g; BM 88-91, C-87, RIC-56. Exquisite needle sharp portrait of the deified Augustus struck in high relief, perfectly centered on an absolute round planchet. The reverse bears an undeniable portrait of a seated Caligula holding a branch in one hand and a globe in the other. According to our best knowledge this is the sharpest coin of this type ever to surface and it is the first time that the globe Caligula is holding can definitely be identified without question. This - no doubt - is the finest example of this issue. Glossy green patina on the obverse and a somewhat less glossy but green patina on the reverse. Ceramics

922. Greek Terracotta Gorgon Antefix, from South Italy. Tarentine; early 5th century B.C., the gorgoneion, symbol of the original gorgon head whose stare could literally turn the beholder into stone, served as an apotropaic function that of warding off evil forces. This example would have served as a roof ornament on a building. Traces of original white, red, & black paint is still visible. 8" x 8" 3500
923. Etruscan Bucchero Amphora; 6th century B.C., Large type with edged ribbed molded lines, in which four incised birds are displayed in different positions. Restored from fragments. 13" 1800
924. Corinthian Alabastron; 6th century B.C. Large alabastron with a highly stylized male siren with wings outspread. In field are rosettes painted in brown. The siren is painted in a combination of brown & purple. 6 3/4" High. Restored under rim from a single break. From old US collection formed during the 50's & 60's 3500
925. Greek Seated Goddess; 5th century B.C., possibly Rhodes. Visible braided hair and wearing cylindrical headdress worn by duties. This piece has all the early archaic styled characteristics one would expect to see in early Greek art. 6 1/2" 1500
926. Attic Squat Lekythos; 5th century B.C., Agora. This container which once held scented oil permitted the oil to be poured in tiny drops. Many types have been found in the Agora, both imports and local versions. This type was easily hung by thongs from the athlete's wrist for use in the rub downs of the gymnasium. Black glazed with a single palmette. No restoration. 3 3/4" 400
927. Clazomene, Greek Footed Platter; 4th century B.C. Reddish-brown rays & lines painted over a buff surface. Underneath dish the same reddish-brown paint finishes the piece in concentric circles. Base foot rejoined. 3" high, 6 3/4" diameter 1850
928. Greek Gnathian-Ware Bell Krater; 320 B.C., Attributed to the Painter of Lecce 1075. Fantastic large example with lion head handles, painted with such fine crisp detail it is truly a celebration. An array of colored painted ribbons including red, white, & yellow truly make this a masterpiece. Rejoined. 13 1/2" 8000
929. Greek Lucanian Skyphos; 4th century B.C., attributed to the Intermediate Group. The front side of this piece renders in reserve painted with black lines for detail a seated female peering into a mirror. The reverse renders, also in reserve, a winged eros caring a fillet in his left and a diadem in his right. Enclosing each scene is floral designs emerging from palmettes which originate under either handle. Rejoined from large fragments. 5 1/2" high, 10 3/4" wide to the handles 4500
930. Greek Apulian Lekythos; 4th century B.C., black glazed with five different incised geometric lines. A wonderful and unusual piece. No restoration. 6 1/2" 1200
931. Greek Campanian Hydria; 330 B.C., attributed to the Ixion Painter. "The Ixion Painter is one of the most important painters of the Campanian period" (Red-Figure Vases of South Italy and Sicily, By A.D. Trendall). Large example with a male & female standing on either side of a closed naskos. On the shoulder is a finely painted vine pattern, while another closed naskos is displayed on the neck. The back is painted with large palmettes which cover the entire back side. Other painted patterns used are wave & egg-and-dot. Rare and unusual motif and shape. Rejoined from fragments. 23 1/2" 8500
932. Roman Terracotta Gorgon Antefix. For explanation of the use of gorgon antifixes see lot #922. Orange clay covered with incrustation. 6 1/4" 800
933. Roman Terracotta Lion Antefix. Orange molded fired surface representing a fierce lion. 5 1/4" 900
- The next seven lots consist of Pompeian style wall Fresco fragments from various undetermined sites, dating from 1st century BC to 1st century AD
934. Painted black with a design painted in an off yellow. 4" 150
935. Molded border with floral design painted in red, white, & blue. 5 1/4" 300
936. Painted with areas of peach, white, and light brown. 8 1/2" 300
937. Painted with flower in black, green, yellow, & red. 4 1/2" 400
938. Painted with a human face in peach, black, & reddish-brown. 3 1/4" 400
939. Painted with a crab with red and white used. 4 1/4" 450
- 939A. FIXED PRICE LOT of single colored fragments, no design, interesting for study. Many different ones available - no returns - each $99
- 939B. Frescos with relief - no returns - each $150
- The shipping can be expensive relative to the price because it is a delicate piece of a 2000 year old wall.
940. Ban Chiang Footed Jar, from Northeastern Thailand; 3000 B.C., ovoid vessel, raised on a flared foot and set with a wide flaring lip, is decorated overall with thin spirals and simple bands about the neck and foot. Ex Sotheby Parke Bernet Auction 1975. No restoration. 12 3/4" 2000
941. Ban Chiang Footed Jar, from Northeastern Thailand; 3000 B.C., Shorter version of previous lot. No restoration. 8 3/4" 1500
942. Palmyrene Woman; Early 3rd century A.D. Palmyra was a celebrated city of Syria which stood as an oasis and a halting place for the caravans between Syria and Mesopotamia from the earliest times. Here, Solomon built a city, which was called in Hebrew, Tadmor-"City of Palm Trees". Under Hadrian and the Antonines, it was highly favored and reached its greatest splendor. Palmyrene statures were Oriental, Parthian garments, and the arches of their eyebrows are hollow, in keeping with the Assyrian sculptural tradition. The composition and, above all, the elements of decoration are modelled on the traditional ornaments of Greek and Roman art. This sculpture of a Palmyrene lady is a draped portrait, with her right hand on her breast and the other holding her veil. She wears a jeweled clasp on her shoulder and a necklace with a crescent moon pendant. Stripes of mineral deposits of a darker color enhance the limestone, with one line in particular across the left side of her face. Save the most minor flake off the tip of her nose, this piece is in pristine condition. 19" x 14 3/4" 12500

943. Fantastic Roman Mosaic; 4th-5th century A.D., Syrian. Fantastic scene with a triton leading a hippocamp on which a sea-nymph gracefully catches a ride. The triton, son of Poseidon and Amphitrite, dwelt with his mother and father in a golden palace at the bottom of the sea. Writers like Homer described Tritons as riding over the sea on horses or other sea-monsters; they are always conceived as having the human figure in the upper part of their bodies, and that of a fish in the lower part. The Triton's duties consisted of blowing a trumpet at the command of Poseidon, to soothe the restless waves of the sea. The Triton's companion, the hippocamp, derived from the sea-horse, was personified as the waves of the sea and their swiftness. The sea-nymph, who were regarded as the daughters of Nereus, and hence called Nereides, were thought to be endowed with prophetic power, and to inspire men with the same, and to confer upon them the gift of poetry. Hence all persons in a state of rapture, such as seers and poets, were said to be caught by the nymphs. This mosaic is of fine quality and displays detail and muscle tones throughout the figures. Pieces of this size set conventionally usually weigh up to seven hundred pounds, this piece set using modern techniques has a weight of only 100lbs, which makes it that much easier to set or hang on a wall. This piece is truly a masterpiece and will make any room feel like a Roman villa. See color plates. 7 feet 6" long x 2 feet 35 1/2" high 80000
